I am a current subscriber to xm satellite radio and use it everyday. I believe that our choices of channels should be decided by us, the subscribers not the National Association of Broadcasters and any other political parties or lobbyists. I pay for it and I should have a choice on what I listen to. If local channels would play good music, good talk shows and current news and traffic reports, not some recording that plays the news and weather all weekend, I wouldn't have to listen to XM. There is not enough variety on local airwaves to suit my needs. I have traveled across the country and listened to hundreds of stations but none of them can even get close to what XM has to offer. I will continue to subscribe to XM forever and I want my choice of channels offered to me by XM by what the subscribers want, not the government. Thank you, John
